Now is the Time to Plant.

With such balmy weather overhead, and such rich, moist earth under foot, the temptation to plant something is irresistible. What's the use of purchasing the Chinese raised vegetables of California, 48 hours old when they reach here, when by spading up a little patch of ground you can have all the vegetables you want, fresh, crisp and juicy, every day.

In Nevada one only has to secure the right kind of seeds and vegetable raising is as easy as rolling off a log. By purchasing of George Thaxter you can be certain of securing fresh seeds, and not a lot of old dried up, shelf-worn stuff.

Suit Dismissed.

On Monday, in the United States Circuit Court, Judges Sawyer and Sabin dismissed the suit entitled "the Southern Development Company of Nevada against Frank Silva." The plaintiffs alleged that on February 15th, 1884, Silva sold them a salted mining claim, known as the Sterling mine, in arwin District. The price paid was $10, 600, Silva representing that there were 2,000 tons of valuable ore in sight at the time of the sale. The suit was instituted to compel the repayment of the $10,000.

A GAME SAVAGE.

He Plays Poker Until he Hasn't a Rag Left.

A few days ago some Indians were playing poker in a vacant lot when suddenly the best dressed of the crowd rose up and took off a shining broadcloth coat, that only a week before was presented him by Jewett Adams. He laid the coat down on the old card blanket with a great flourish and called vociferously for a new deal.

The deal went round and his opponent, who was an old Washoe squaw, laid down a greasy ace on his king. He then rose up with a loud oath and peeled off a vest, presented him last Thursday by the editor of the APPEAL as a Spring benevolence. The deal went round again and once more the old squaw terminated the play with an ace. Again the buck rose up and after invoking the blazing sun hauled off a white shirt, somewhat the worse for wear, presented him by Bob Keating during the pendency of the Lottery bill.

Once more the cards were flipped over the old horsey blanket and that inevitable ace was laid down by the skinny handed squaw amid a shout of triumph from the crowd.

The buck with the old ancestral vim of the Washoetribes, flashing in his eye, danced out and pulling off Judge Hawley's pants flourished them in mid air and staked them on the turn of the next card. Amid a murmur of condoling voices he lost again, and this time pulled off another pair of pants, the birthday gift of H. M. Yerington, on last election day.

Again the cards were artistically comingle and the old fossil relic of the Winnemucca War took in the clothes. He still had an old pair of pants left, a Valentine present from Joe Douglass, and well worn. Amid a breathless silence he lost, and peeling off his only remaining pants, he did them up in a small wad and flung them at the squaw's head. A howl of aboriginal laughter went up and the squaw motioning toward the breech cloth, began manipulating the cards. But the buck who still had some living remnants of acclimated modesty declined to farther denude himself, and breaking from the crowd ran like a cross eyed gazelle up the street, causing much astonishment to several households along the line of his flight. Then the old squaw placed the articles of clothing, one by one upon the body of her husband who immediately began to strut around the ring like a brevet lord of creation.

Public Park Bill.

Of something the Nevada Legislature might have done with as much propriety as in California we quote from the Woodland Mail:

A bill has passed both houses of the Legislature, and is in the hands of the Governor for final consideration, by the terms of which the local legislative authority of any county, city or town, may authorize a tax levy of three cents on the hundred dollars for the creation and improvement of public parks. The bill should become a law. Under it Woodland, without feeling the expense, could establish a park that would not only be an ornament but an honor to our little city. We hope the Governor will sign the bill and that it will become a law. A city town that is able should take as much pride in beautifying its surroundings, as does a private individual who believes that a dollar so expended often brings better returns than the dollar, the virtues of which consist only in drawing 10 per cent. interest per annum.

Building New Rolling Stock.

There are locomotive engines in course of construction in the Central Pacific Railroad Company's shops at Sacramento. The car department is now building 200 fruit cars, 200 flat cars and 20 cabooses, and there is some talk of more sleepers being added to the rolling stock, exclusive of the 21 now being built by the Pullman Palace Car Company.

THE LOTTERY BILL VETOED.

The Governor's Objections Purely of a Constitutional Nature.

Yesterday afternoon, Governor Stevenson filed his veto on the Lottery bill with the Secretary of State. The message covered 26 pages of legal cap, and is doubtless the longest veto message ever filed in this State. The bill was objected to by the Governor on two Constitutional grounds, one of which prohibits the extending of State recognition to any corporation except for municipal purposes, and the other was that the Constitutional provision against lotteries had not yet been repealed. He quoted the decisions of the Supreme Courts of New York and Pennsylvania in support of his action. The bill will now go before the next Legislature for its approval or disapproval.

A Bold stunt.

Baldwin, owner of Volante is trying to make the public believe that he wants to run his nag against Montana Regent for $25,000. Morrissey the owner of the Regent, is also industriously working the wires to induce the public to think that he wants to stake a like amount on his nag.

The two men have the money, the horses, the opportunity, all they really lack is the nerve. Baldwin wants to name the stakes, the time and the distance. Morrissey wants to also have these affairs all his own way. Baldwin names a time which Morrissey cannot accept, and Morrissey not to be outdone in generosity, names a time convenient for Baldwin to steer clear of.

Neither of the pair want to run their horses, and if they ever do, it will be purely a wind affair and a job to scoop the public. These owners both have wind galls.

Activity on the Comstock.

There promises to be a very active season on the Comstock. This week the laying of the new twelve inch pipe, across Washoe Valley, will be commenced. The water from this pipe is intended to supply natural power for the mills. The heavy expense attendant upon this magnificent piece of engineering, could only be warranted by the feeling on the part of the men conducting the scheme, that the Comstock was good for many years yet, and that the ore in sight fully warrants the large outlay.

Again the market is in a position to make quick response to a boom, as the stocks are mostly held by persons who have paid in full, the small and weak holders having been swept aside last Fall.

Fine Oranges.

Yesterday Mr. E. B. Curtis left a dozen oranges at the APPEAL office which were grown on his farm in Red Lands, San Bernardino county. They are a Mediterranean variety; firm, hardy and of exquisite flavor. He also left some blood oranges, which have a crimson juice. These oranges were grown on trees but four years old, and the owner received 1,000 lbs yesterday by freight.
